“BUILDING TEAMS FOR ADVANCEING EQUITY AND INCLUSION”

SESSION 1
10:00am to 11:00am

BE THE CHANGE | McCaw Hall
Dereca Blackmon - Assistant Vice Provost and Executive Director, Inclusion and Diversity Education
We talk so much about diversity and inclusion, but what can one person do to make a difference? Come check out a live performance piece where staff will share the belonging challenges they face at Stanford, as well as concrete practical steps to strengthen ourselves, each other and the entire campus. Walk away engaged, inspired and prepared to act!

MENTAL HEALTH AND WELL-BEING | Lane, Lyons and Lodato
Bina Patel - Director, Counseling & Psychological Services; Clinical Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Science
Donovan Somera Visrael - Senior Health Educator: Mental Health and Well-being
How can we, as student affairs professionals, advance well-being in our community and beyond by understanding and practicing "mental hygiene" so that we are prepared to show up and be present for our students everyday as well as in times of need?

RESILIENCE | Barnes, McDowell and Cranston
Tia Rich - Manager, Resilience and Stress Management Programs and Director of Contemplation By Design
Learning how to build and share resilience practices in our work and personal lives can be key for sustaining our most important endeavors. In this session you will learn evidence-based, practical resilience skills. A multimedia presentation and interactive activities will provide you with knowledge of the neuroscience of resilience, and a personalized toolkit and resilience cultivation plan.

SESSION 2
11:15am to 12:15pm

EQUITY, COMMUNITY AND SERVANT LEADERSHIP | McCaw Hall
Jan Barker-Alexander - Assistant Vice Provost, Centers for Equity, Community & Leadership
What’s necessary to envision and realize equity and justice? What role can you play in empowering students to lead with the most vulnerable in mind? Join the Centers for Equity, Community, and Leadership in an interactive workshop featuring case studies, student voices, and tools/toolkits to assist all of us in this work.

LEADING CHANGE/CHANGE MANAGEMENT | Lane, Lyons and Lodato
Noel Hirst - Assistant Vice President for Business Affairs Finance and Facilities
Margaret Dyer-Chamberlain - Associate Vice Provost for Administration, Student Affairs
It’s often said that change is the one constant. Engage in how we can lead change, anticipate its impacts, and bring change management expertise to Student Affairs. Noel and Margaret partnered on the first move of Stanford staff to the Porter Drive location and jointly led the Work Anywhere effort, the precursor to the APEX Connect Stanford employees everywhere committee. In addition, Noel is managing the upcoming Business Affairs move to Redwood City.
