

COVID-19 Testing Checklist for Students

Winter 2021

If you have tested positive for COVID in the past three months through a provider other than Verily and Vaden, you should send a copy of your positive COVID test (attached to a secure message) to Dr. Robyn Tepper through the Vadenpatient portal. You will not be asked to retest for 90 days.

Otherwise, you should take the following steps:

1. Seven days before you arrive on campus from the United States or abroad, register for your first twice weekly test. Go to the Verily website (<https://healthy.verily.com/>), create an account, and when prompted, enter your campus area address (undergraduates should enter “Stanford University, Stanford, Calif., 94305.” Make an appointment for one hour after your residence check-in time. If you are checking in after 2 p.m., make an appointment for the next day.
2. The morning of the day you arrive on campus, complete the Stanford Health Check (<https://healthcheck.stanford.edu/login>). Set an alarm on your phone so that you remember to do this every day while you are living on campus.
3. If you arrive before 2 p.m., leave your luggage at your residence and then take your first test with Verily at your appointment time. Bring your student or government issued ID. OR, if you arrive after 2 p.m., spend the night in your residence and then go to your appointment the next day.
4. 24 hours after your first test with Verily, make an appointment for your next test. Important: Make one appointment at a time. If you make a second one, your first appointment will be canceled. And if you can't go to your appointment, cancel it with Verily. This way, we can offer the spot to other students.

More information is posted at <https://studentaffairs.stanford.edu/covid-testing>.